KIHEI STOCK RETURNED

BALDWIN AND THURSTON GIVE UP $539,000.

Remarkable Meeting of Stockholders This Morning—Reason for the Return of Stock—Speeches.

At a meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce this morning stockholders of Kihei Plantation Company passed a resolution accepting the offer of H. P. Baldwin and L. A. Thurston to turn into the treasury the sum of $539,000 in paid up stock and to reduce the capitalization of the company from $3,000,000 to $2,500,000, $500,000 of the stock turned in to be cancelled.

President H. P. Baldwin was chairman of the meeting. With him were Secretary L. A. Thurston and Treasurer J. P. Cooke. Of the 69,000 shares of stock issued a total of 36,715 shares were represented in the meeting.

When business was taken up Mr. Baldwin said: "Some weeks ago I made a proposition to Mr. Thurston to give up one half of my paid up stock in Kihei plantation. My total holding is $539,000. To make the figures even I offered to surrender $445,500 of this. I would state that no pressure of any kind has been brought to bear upon me to do this. I have reached the conclusion that probably too much was paid for the land at Kihei and I believe I should return some of the stock. That is all I have to say."

"One reason which has brought me to the conclusion to surrender this stock is that since the application of the Territorial bill the plantation, with other plantations, has been troubled with a sharp drop in the stock. The outlook is still threatening and the profits originally forecasted by us may be cut down some. Added to this is the increase in the price of coal, machinery and other materials. While the result of the election on the mainland I do not see any prospect of an early reduction in the cost of any of these things."

"I have proposed to Mr. Thurston that he also give up a proportion of his stock. As the balance of the stock of the plantation will be benefited by the surrender of my stock, I have proposed to him that he give up the estimated increase in the value of his stock as a result of such surrender. This will be, as near as we can figure it, about $95,000. My understanding is that he will do that. He is present, however, and can speak for himself."

Mr. Thurston said: "This proposition is one of Mr. Baldwin's and not of mine. I want that distinctly understood. When he first proposed the matter to me I replied that I did not feel disposed to give up anything. I did not see why I should. The promotion of Kihei plantation was opened and above board. Every detail was published in the newspapers. Every investor knew exactly what he was going into when he signed for stock. There was nothing hidden. I therefore replied to Mr. Baldwin that I saw no legal or moral reason for surrendering any of my stock. If Mr. Baldwin wishes to give up his stock, well and good. It is his to give. At the same time I can not view the action as anything but a bestowal of a bounty upon the company."

"Mr. Baldwin's idea is to increase the value of the holdings of the assessable share owners. The plan will surely do that. I have no assessable stock and will therefore not be benefited on that score. With the advance in assessable stock, however, paid up shares will also advance. After deliberation I have therefore consented to give up as much as the estimated increase in the value of my holdings will be somewhat between $90,000 and $100,000."

"Certain newspapers have had a great deal to say about the Kihei deal. I have never felt disposed to reply to them and do not propose to now. I would like to say for myself, however, that I have never speculated a particle in Kihei stock and never answered any, except to members of my own family and $2,000 worth which I transferred to a friend as an accommodation to the end of the month. I went into Kihei as an investment and intend to keep all of my stock permanently."

John F. Colburn asked this question of Mr. Baldwin: "After deliberation is it not a fact that you have, on account of the condition of the cane or prospects perhaps, come to the conclusion that you received too much money for the land sold by you to the plantation?"

Mr. Baldwin replied that the growth of cane on the windward side was not good and for a year and a half the estate had been troubled with heavy dusts which had made it hard of late to keep laborers. But this was not to be permanent. With the rains now prevailing this hardship had past and very soon, with the assistance of new trees and shubbery, there would be less dust. There was nothing in the condition of

FAILS WHOLLY TO KNOCK OUT WILCOX.

Judge Humphreys refuses to Issue an Order to Show Cause—Delegate Now Sails Smoothly.

A. B. Loebenstein made a second attempt this morning to knock out the election of Robert Wilcox as delegate to Washington. This time proceedings were brought before Judge Humphreys. The single point in the long petition was that the Territorial act did not authorize an election of delegate for the two Congresses mentioned and that such election was therefore irregular and illegal. Judge Humphreys overruled this contention.

The petitioner alleged that since November 12 Wilcox has claimed the office of delegate and is usurper of the honor. It is asked that he be summoned to show cause why he should not be punished for assuming an office not legally acquired.

This matter came first before the Attorney General last week. That official declined to consider it on the ground that Congress was the judge of the qualifications of its members etc. Not to be so easily turned down Mr. Loebenstein sought the intervention of the court. Davis & Gear appeared for the petitioner.

This will probably settle the matter of the delegate so far as this country is concerned. There will be no further effort to stop the issuance of his credentials. It is also doubtful that anything will be done by local people to unsettle the delegate at Washington.

NEWSPAPERMAN IN CONTEMPT.

Judge Humphreys Threatens to Imprison Two of Them.

Editor Gill of the Republican and one of his staff were threatened this morning by Circuit Judge Humphreys with imprisonment for contempt of court, on account of the publication in the Republican this morning of the supplementary answer filed by Dr. Miner in his divorce case. When the document was filed the judge ordered it stricken from the records, and sealed up, stating that filing such a document amounted to contempt and that it must be kept secret.

Most of the sealed document, with court proceedings in reference to it, was published this morning. The judge called the attorney-general into court and ordered a rigid investigation made, in view of ascertaining who was responsible for the publication. His honor said that he would give the responsible parties a term in prison, if it was found that they had been guilty of induced criminal contempt.

PRECAUTIONS FOR PLAGUE

QUARANTINE BUREAU HEARS FROM SAN FRANCISCO.

A Case Where One of the Alleged July Cases Was—Official Correspondence and Coming Orders.

Under date of October 26, the report of the surgeon-general of the United States Marine Hospital service, issued at Washington, contains the following: "Two cases of plague have been recently reported in San Francisco, one October 5, and another October 19. Both confirmed by bacteriological examinations."

One of the plague cases was a white man who was found in one of the houses in Chinatown in which a case was reported last July. He was an opium fiend and spent much of his time in Chinatown. Dr. Carmichael has received notice of the two cases and another one since the report was issued at Washington. The cases are said to have been submitted to every possible test and a dozen doctors who took part in the experiments were unanimous in the conclusion that the cases were true bubonic plague.

Orders will be issued at Honolulu, as soon as Dr. Carmichael returns, for precautions against steamships arriving from San Francisco. Fumigation of freight may be insisted upon and some kinds of freight may be refused. The killing of rats will receive attention at once.

Dr. Kerr, United States quarantine officer at Hongkong, has written to the local office regarding the fumigation of the Nippon Maru, while at Hongkong this time. Dr. Kerr states that after the sulphur fumigation he found 175 dead rats in the vessel. The fumigating plant for the quarantine bureau is expected here on the transport Sheridan, which will be the next one here. She is due at the end of this week. The plant will be set up at once, and may have something to do right away, with San Francisco cargo.

The new cases of plague reported at San Francisco revive a remarkable state of affairs that was the cause of a great political row last spring, when Mayor Phelan, Dr. Kinyoun and others declared that plague existed in San Francisco generally declined to believe it and the mayor and doctors were roundly denounced. Now a case has been found in one of the houses where was one of the alleged July cases, and the doctors seem to be on top again.

A COLLECTION SCHEME

HOW AH CHOY USED THE POLICE COURT.

Got an Assault and Battery Warrant to Collect a Debt and Narrowly Escapes Jail Himself.

Using an assault and battery warrant as a means of trying to collect a gambling debt nearly landed Ah Choy in jail for contempt this morning. Judge Wilcox found out the scheme, dismissed the charge and gave Choy a hot roast.

Sui Pea is a man who owed Choy money. The debtor wouldn't pay, so Choy went to a friend and secured the necessary evidence and Sui was duly arrested on a charge of assault and battery upon Ah Choy. This morning the plaintiff's witness, in answer to direct questions from the judge, admitted that the whole proceeding was simply for the purpose of collecting the debt.

Choy and Lung Chuk testified that Sui made a sudden attack upon Choy last Sunday, without any provocation. Sui gave Choy one blow with his elbow very hard, said the witnesses, and the victim said that it was terribly painful. Chung had had some police court experience before, and when the judge said he wanted to get at the truth of the matter and asked Choy if he wasn't a gambling debt proposition. Chung gave a trembling affirmative. Then he admitted that the defendant owed the plaintiff some money and next that the charge of assault and battery was only brought to collect the sum.

Sui Pea was discharged and Choy was called to the bar of the court to listen to some advice. Judge Wilcox told him that the police court was not for the purpose of collecting debts, that Sui was arrested on a charge of assault and battery, and announced that if such proceedings were not stopped there would be some harsh sentences for contempt.

JAPANESE DEAD.

A Japanese named Fukukay dropped dead of wild fever yesterday just after the arrival of the Claudine. He had been a passenger on the steamer. The cause of death is supposed to have been heart disease, but an inquest will be held this afternoon at four o'clock. The death on the Claudine was investigated by the deputy sheriff and it was decided that an inquest was not necessary.

ARE REQUESTED TO DIG

INDEPENDENTS RAISING MONEY BY CONTRIBUTIONS.

Money to Pay for Luau but Another Report Says Its for Wilcox's Fare to Washington.

Mrs. Teresa Wilcox is conducting a campaign of finance. With characteristic energy she has marshaled a strong and efficient force of adherents. That their efforts have been accompanied by great success passes without fear of contradiction.

Two causes for the raising of funds have been assigned. In one, Wilcox the congressman-elect appears in decidedly different construction in placed upon the efforts of Mrs. Wilcox to raise money. In fact the more favorable report, which is substantiated by the statements of various members of the Independent party, has it that the money is being secured to defray the expenses of the big luau which is to be held tomorrow night.

Down in the Kakaako district fully a dozen solicitors have appeared and implored the people to subscribe. It mattered not whether they gave 5 cents or $5, let them give something. In the majority of cases this argument succeeded. Among those visited were a number of Republicans and according to them representations were made which are anything but favorable to Wilcox.

According to them, the women asked for the money on the claim that it was being raised to defray the expense of sending Wilcox and his private secretary to Washington. There was moreover no suggestion of a luau made, the contribution being boldly solicited on the other grounds. In view of the fact that a congressman is allowed his mileage and a liberal one at that, such an appeal to the natives seems like a graft pure and simple. If it happened that Wilcox's finances were depleted by the expenses of the last campaign, as were those of other candidates, it might not be improper for the native leader to ask those who had helped elect him to aid his journey to Washington. But none of the solicitors made any statement about the money being a loan or that Wilcox would repay it.

On the other hand Mrs. Wilcox when asked the purposes of securing the contributions stated that it was solely to raise money with which to defray the expenses of the luau. She was very busy at the native headquarters today and yesterday receiving returns from a large corps of women assistants. Close to $500 was raised and with this amount Mrs. Wilcox said they would give a luau of most elaborate proportions. Inasmuch as this work is entirely in the hands of Mrs. Wilcox assisted by the female followers of the party the report that money being secured for any other purpose than the luau seems a little peculiar, especially as a luau is exactly the character of work which would naturally fall to the lot of the women.

BARK ABIE PALMER BADLY DAMAGED.

On Her Way From Honolulu to Port Blakeley—One Man Lost and All Have Narrow Escapes.

The bark Abie Palmer, Captain Uhlberg, which left here some weeks ago for Port Blakeley, was badly damaged and lost one man in the collision with the Canadian Pacific steamer Empress of India off Cape Flattery on the 6th of this month. The bark was towed into Seattle on the 8th. She had a narrow escape from total wreck. The damage is said to be about $30,000.

The man who was lost was a seaman named Miller, who was shipped in Honolulu. He was on the lookout at the time of the collision and is supposed to have been stunned and knocked overboard.

At Victoria the Empress of India reported that she had been run into by the sailing vessel, but the account of the accident given by Captain Uhlberg, in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, is very different. It is stated that the steamer was at fault and that she had been away without even waiting to save the crew of the bark. The account given at Seattle is as follows:

The collision occurred at 2:45 in the morning. The Palmer was about twenty-five miles northwest of Cape Flattery, on the way from Honolulu to Port Blakeley. The Empress of India was going from Vancouver, B. C., to the Orient. The bark reports seeing the steamer ten minutes before they struck, but was close-hauled and could not change her course. Every effort was made to attract the India's attention, but she did not, it is charged, make any attempt to avoid the collision. The Palmer's side light, it is claimed, was burning at the time.

It was a bright, moonlight night. The lookout saw the steamer approaching and reported to the second mate, who was aft. The latter ran forward and ascertained that the Palmer's lights were burning, called Capt. Uhlberg and all hands on deck. The steamer was bearing rapidly down on the bark, and all on board yelled in unison to attract her attention. It was useless, however, and the big liner crashed into the sailing vessel. It was at this time that Miller, the lookout, disappeared. It is believed that he was stunned and fell overboard, sinking without outcry.

His absence, in the confusion of the moment, was not noticed. The crew thought the bark was sinking, and were going to make a desperate attempt to board the Empress of India, but were prevented by the officers. The steamer glanced off and hove to, it is said, some distance from the injured bark. The latter took in sail and wore around for the India, but she, the seamen allege, resumed her voyage without waiting to hear whether or not the Palmer was in a sinking condition.

Wednesday night the tug Pioneer picked up the distressed vessel and brought her to Seattle.

"Three minutes after I came on deck," states Capt. Uhlberg, of the Palmer, "the steamer struck our port bow and glanced off. We did not come together again. As a result of the collision our bowsprit was bent like an elbow to port, the whole stem was carried away, and several ribs broken. There was a large hole about five feet square in our stem beneath the forehead where we were stove in, which admitted the water. Considerable rigging was damaged. It was a narrow escape."

"When we learned that the bark was not sinking we took in sail and wore around for the steamer, which was lying at some distance. She steamed away, however, and left us."

The steamer put back to Victoria and reported that the lookout man of the Palmer had been thrown by the collision on to the deck of the steamer and was safe.

BABE SWEEP BY FLOOD

THE RISING LAO RIVER CARRIES IT AWAY.

House in Which It Was Destroyed. Infant Discovered Some Hours Later, Sleeping and Uninjured.

WAILUKU, November 17.—The Lao River in its flood swept away the house of a Japanese in which there was a little baby.

The rains of Wednesday night turned the river into a torrent. All day Thursday it ran a muddy stream to the sea flooding low lands and making roads impassable. But when the windows of heaven were opened again Thursday night, the torrent was swelled to an irresistible flood carrying everything before it. The Spreckelsville ditch which crosses the river in a flume was swept away, so high did the raging waters rise. Houses built near the river were abandoned by their occupants and went down in the resistless current. One of these houses was occupied by a family of Japanese. A little baby was one of this family. By some chance, either going to seek assistance or in a panic the parents left the house with the babe in it. The floods were less neglectful; they took the house, baby and all, with them. Down the whirling waters the house floated, by some strange chance holding together. It was carried a long distance but finally stranded among a pile of drift-wood. The frantic parents accompanied by friends and neighbors found the house some hours after it had been carried away. Inside the little baby was found, asleep, with only a tear in its eyes to show it had suffered.
